

ENCOUNTERING THE PERSON WHO IS LIGHT & LIFE ETERNAL

Artisan's Quest

The Longing

In a quaint village nestled among rolling hills, a young man named Artisan dwelled. Renowned for his kind soul and relentless pursuit of truth, Artisan often found solace in nature's embrace, where he pondered life's great mysteries. The beauty and complexity of the natural world whispered hints of a higher power. How could something arise from nothing? Could a book truly author itself? Was it possible for a building to stand without an architect, or a painting to exist without an artist? Despite the explanations offered at school, Artisan found them lacking, fueling his determination to uncover his own answers. Artisan frequently attended church, but the congregation seemed lifeless, their words hollow. They spoke of salvation, but their actions bore little fruit in Artisan's life thus far. These lacked answers to biblical questions, and instead of reaching and searching their bible, they were steeped in religious monotone, offering nothing solid to him. In his frustration, Artisan set out for a change of scenery, hoping to clear his mind and uncover the missing piece to his life. But yes, his experience with nature seems to spring out to him, the atmosphere was speaking to him a confirmation that there was a divine creator. Looking up, he exclaimed, "God, this is Artisan. I need your help. If you're truly there, make yourself personally known to me!" The only response was a blowing wind upon his shoulder.

Within the fourth dimension spiritual realm, the angels overheard Artisan's plea. "Do you think the wind we sent got his attention? I don't know if he had a clue, but he's crying out for answers, let's give him some," one said. "Let's just elevate his prayer to the King," the other replied. And with that, Gabriel set the wheels in motion.

The Adventure

The next day was a beautiful spring morning, Artisan set out on his usual hike, seeking clarity his further thoughts amidst creation's splendor. As he wandered through the meadows and along the brooks, looking at the skies, and gazing at the mountain tops, an unusual peace settled over him. Caught up in thought, he stumbled upon an ancient chapel hidden deep in the forest. "Now this is an adventure that I've been waiting for," he said. Though weathered, the chapel radiated a warm, ethereal glow, as if the divine dwelled within. At the center of the chapel, a figure sat within a radiant bright orah on a bench beside the pulpit. As Artisan approached, his heart pounded in his chest.

The figure was none other than Yahshua Himself, radiating pure, golden light. "Fear not, Artisan," Yahshua said, beckoning him closer. A mix of fear and excitement washed over Artisan as he felt drawn to the bench, sitting beside the Son of God. "I am Yahshua. Remember your words from a few days ago? I have eagerly waited for this moment with you." The air shimmered with an invisible presence of pure light emanating from Him. The beam of light glowed and emanated from Yahshua's being! Artisan felt enveloped in a sphere of light and eternal life, there was a rush and as Yahshua's presence washed over him, he felt heaviness upon him and he fell to his knees. In that moment, Yahshua spoke with a voice it was like the sound of many waters that embodied both his love and authority. His words touched Artisan's soul deeply. Artisan was moved beyond any experience which he had ever had. "I hold all the answers you seek, said Messiah. I am the Light and Eternal Life. I, the Creator, can provide the truth you crave. Consider yourself on Holy Ground for in this place I have chosen this place to meet with you!"

Unfolding Truth & Reality

Yahshua revealed the depths of Artisan's heart. When Artisan reached a place of awe, Yahshua explained that He was the embodiment of Eternal Life. By embracing His presence, that life became accessible to all who sought it. Artisan was amazed. "Do you not know that I have come to live my life within you and through you?" Yahshua asked. "I want you to make my will your own and dwell within you." "Yes, Lord," Artisan replied. "Come within me. I give you my life. I want to live for you." Yahshua's words ignited a passion within Artisan which he had never experienced before as he listened to how Yahshua would live in him, and he would live within Yahshua. "What a sweet surrender – all of me, for all of Him," Artisan said.

A longing for eternal security, to be forever kept by Yahshua, swelled with in Artisan's heart. As he contemplated this, Yahshua eagerly guided him, opening up the truth of how he could be saved from his past, present, and future, and spend eternity with Him. Yahshua emphasized the importance of abiding in Him for intimate fellowship, which secured eternal salvation. To walk in His light meant, to embrace His teachings, be washed by His word, to be cleansed in heart, embody by Messiah's love, and pursue righteousness, made possible by a new divine nature that bore fruit. He warned that those who claimed to walk in His light could not persist in darkness, not if they were truly His, and explained that sin created a barrier between man and God and a breach in His covenant. This is why He pointed out the importance of confession and receiving forgiveness, through the blood at the cross, now upon the heavenly mercy seat in heaven, to place sins under His blood. This was the High priestly ministry which Yahshua would perform in order to display His keeping power!

Source Of Light & Life

Yahshua explained that coming to faith was only the beginning of salvation; the journey was about partaking of Him, the source of Eternal Life. He shared the benefits of the kingdom culture lifestyle and how it could restore man's true identity and fulfill his destiny. "If you trust in me, follow me, and live with me each day, you can be fully restored and experience my presence with my anointed life," Yahshua said. "It is written, 'Let thy kingdom come on earth, as it is in heaven.' Let it be done here and now!" As their conversation deepened, Artisan realized that walking in Yahshua's light required daily communion with Him, to take time in a sacred space with Him. Just as the sun sustains life on earth, Yahshua offered Artisan Eternal Life to Him. "You are my Life giver," Artisan said. "My High Priestly ministry will keep you – spirit, soul, and body – and I will return," Yahshua replied. "Receive my Spirit, Artisan." And with that, Yahshua breathed the living Spirit into Artisan, and he was filled. Their time in the chapel passed, and as the presence of Yahshua's glory intensified, Artisan found himself being translated and suddenly he was standing outside, basking in the warm sunlight. Then a still small voice came to him and said, "I will be with you always."

On Going Experience

The experience had transformed him in ways Artisan could not describe. His mind his inner man, and his spirit was filled and he knew he was in Yahshua and Yahshua in him. He was given a heavenly language to pray daily which helped him pray God's perfect will! From that day forward, Artisan rejoiced, he was a new man; he dedicated himself to follow and guard in his heart Yahshua's teachings, and bask in His radiant light, soaking in His anointing. As he navigated through his life, within the orah sphere of light, he remained being guided through the darkness of the fallen world being illuminated by Yahshua's path following His commission, path and security in Messiah's perfect will.

Sharing His Shining Light

Artisan's journey with Yahshua had just begun, and by dwelling in His light, Artisan became a beacon, a radiate one to light his community. The church he attended changed because of his testimony and visible fruit and the religious community entered a new dimension of living for God and rejoiced as they too witnessed the transformative power of Yahshua's Eternal Life shining in them. Together, they walked, hand in hand, embracing His light and life as a community. All who continued walking within His sphere were forever grateful for the continuous Divine encounter, partaking in His presence daily, and being saved through His eternal connection.
